

Landowner Services Directory

Ontario Stewardship, with many other stewardship partners active on the Moraine and with funding support from the Oak Ridges Moraine Foundation, has been working on a partnership project to implement landowner contact and stewardship projects in strategic areas on the Moraine.

Ontario Stewardship

Stewardship Councils provide financial and technical assistance to rural organizations and in some cases individual landowners for projects, programs and services that demonstrate the wise (sustainable and efficient) use of water, woodlands and wildlife. They will facilitate partnerships between producers, rural landowners and non-profit organizations, volunteers and government agencies. The Council and their partners organize a number of water, wildlife and woodlot management conferences, workshops, tours and exhibits each year.

Please Note:

This Landowner Services Directory has been prepared to assist rural landowners in finding “environmentally related” services and information. If you are having difficulty finding the help you require, please call your local Stewardship Council.

The information contained within this Directory is for the convenience of the reader. Listings do not imply endorsement of any particular product, service, organization, company, information provider or content by Ontario Stewardship, or any local Stewardship Council, to the exclusion of others that may be suitable.

Every effort has been made to make the information in this Directory as accurate as possible. We would appreciate any updates. If you have any questions or comments related to this Directory, please call the Peterborough County

Tips on Hiring a Consultant:

There are many kinds of consultants - be sure that you know what kind of expertise is most important to you.

Most forest consultants have worked for several years in their field before they start to work on their own. Ask about their experience and the nature of their business. What kind of work have they specialized in? How long have they been in business? Do they carry insurance? Is their experience mostly in northern Ontario or southern Ontario – these forests are quite different in nature. Is the individual a provincially Certified Tree Marker or qualified as a Managed Forest Plan Approver?

If you are looking for someone who is specializing in forestry, here are some legal considerations. For conducting a site inventory and approving a prescription for a forestry activity such as tree planting or tree marking and harvest, according to Ontario law, any individual must be a member of the Ontario Professional Foresters Association (OPFA). Check out the OPFA website at www.opfa.ca.

Other websites to search include the Ontario Woodlot Association www.ont-woodlot-assoc.org or the Ontario Forestry Association www.oforest.on.ca.

If your concerns are with habitat, wildlife, water or wetlands, then the person you hire should have another set of credentials and experience. For example, is the individual a certified Wetland Evaluator? Do they have demonstrated experience in wildlife or fisheries biology?

Invasive Plants - A Threat to Your Woodlot

An invasive plant is one that has been moved from its native habitat, usually from an out of country location for garden / domestic use, and then reproduces so aggressively that it 'escapes' into native plant communities. In a forest ecosystem, an invasive plant can be a tree, shrub, or herbaceous plant. Some particularly persistent invasive species now appearing in Ontario woodlots and other natural areas include Common and Glossy Buckthorn (Rhamnus cathartica), Swallow Wort / Dog-Strangling Vine (Vincetoxicum nigrum), Garlic Mustard (Alliaria petiolata), and Norway maple (Acer platanoides).

Most imported plants are unable to reproduce or survive without help. Unfortunately, some exotic plants can successfully compete and dominate in certain native habitats. It has been reported that approximately 700 species (27% of the total flora !!) growing in Ontario are not native. To date, most exotic invasives have been transported into Canada from Europe and Asia. One of the biggest factors contributing to the success of certain exotic plants is the fact that no natural control exists for that plant. In a plant's native habitat, natural controls such as climate, animals, insects, fungi, and other plants restrict them to a certain habitat niche within their range. Invasive species have the potential to displace natural vegetation such as trilliums or the natural regeneration of forest tree species. If the habitat is very unique or rare, some flora and fauna may become locally endangered.

To be safe, strive to plant only native perennials in your garden. Be wary of purchasing specimens from nurseries that are advertised as suited to our climate range and 'easy to grow' or 'will grow under many conditions'. For more information on invasive species, consult with your local Stewardship Council or type in the name of the plant you are researching at an Internet site – abundant information is available.
